

LOOKING AND SEEING

a collection of photos from quarantine

ZINE BY JENNY HO

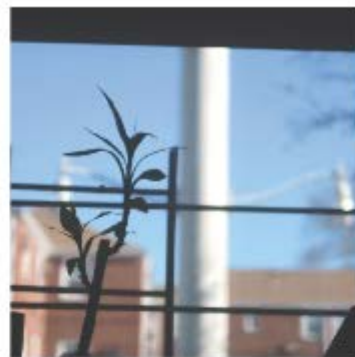

windows windows

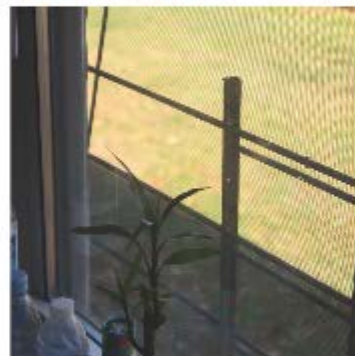

always looking

it seems that these
days, i have more in
common,

with my bunny
rabbit that sits, on
my window sill all
day.

everything is so abstract
these days...

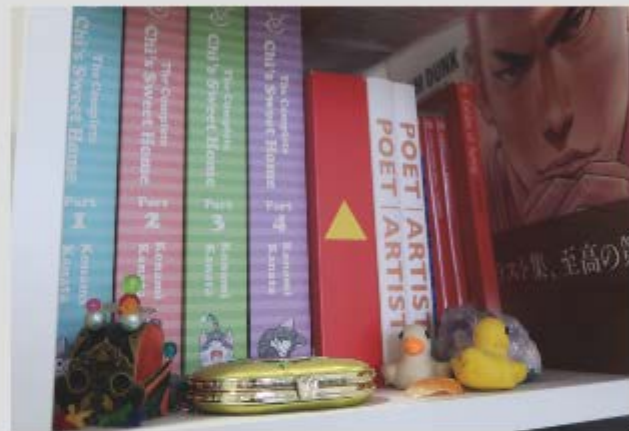

time doesn't seem to be
flowing correctly.
everything blurs
together.

what day is it today?

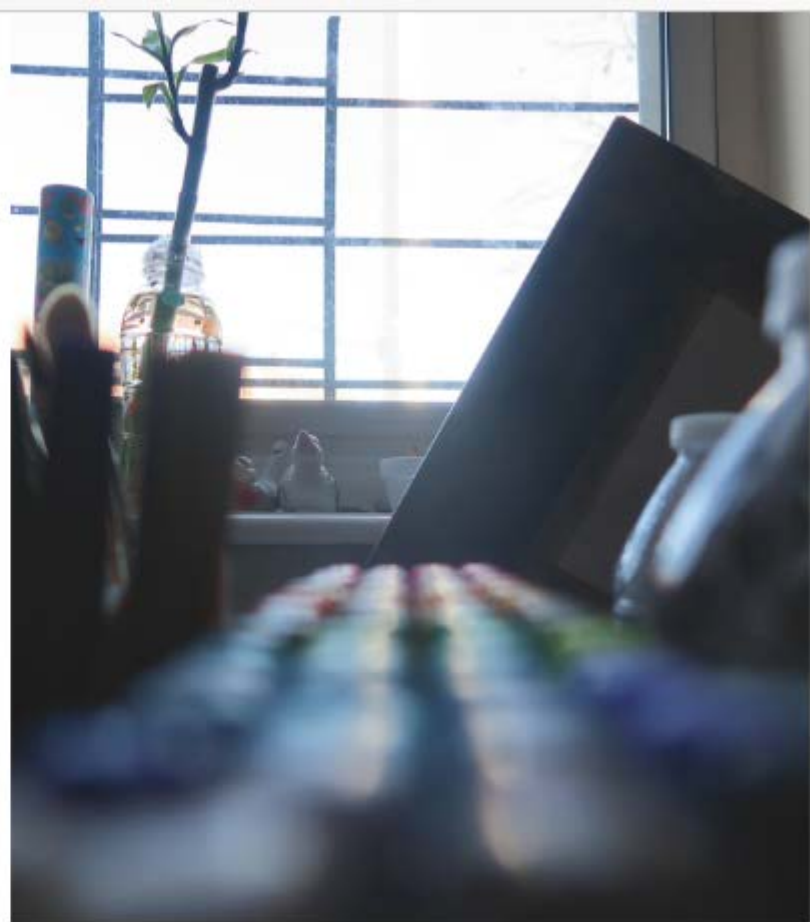

was my room always so filled with things?

finding new perspectives and angles.

knick

knack

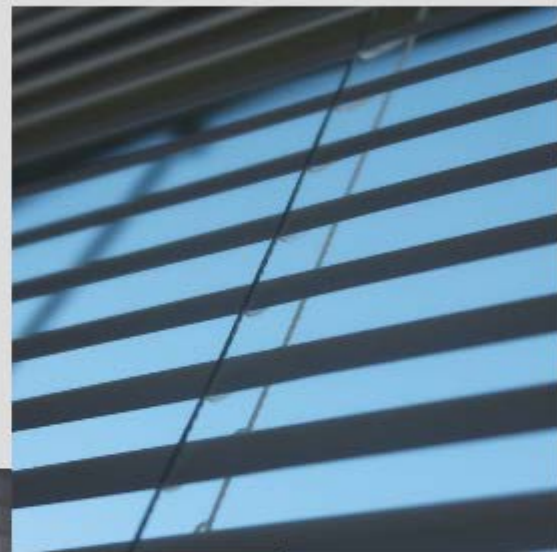

will this never ending

pattern end?

end.
